

JOYCE FORUM SHORT FILM FESTIVAL

David & Dorothea Garfield Theatre | October 6-7, 2018

Brews and Views | October 8, 2018

OUR SHORTS HAVE GOTTEN BIGGER THIS YEAR

The San Diego Jewish Film Festival's Joyce Forum Day of Shorts has expanded into its own festival. We are proud to present the Joyce Forum Short Film Festival October 6 - 7, 2018, and continuing the passion for short films with Brews and Views on October 8, 2018.

The Joyce Forum Short Film Festival and Brews and Views are part of the annual San Diego Jewish Film Festival year round film programming. Since its inception in 1990, the SDJFF has become one of the largest and most prestigious film festivals of its kind, and is the highest attended Jewish cultural event in San Diego County.

The Joyce Forum Short Film Festival presents short documentary, narrative and animated films, along with an international roster of guest speakers and directors. We offer an array of films that depict elements of Jewish life, history and culture or are films created by Jewish filmmakers. Awards will be selected by a distinguished panel of Jurors. This year the Israeli short films and guest filmmakers will be presented in partnership with The Murray Galinson San Diego Israel Initiative.
